

Welcome to Sultrix

Your simple, step-by-step setup guide

No experience needed. If you can install an app on your phone, you can do this. Just follow each step in order.

What is Sultrix?

Sultrix is a computer program that trades crypto and forex for you, automatically, even while you sleep. Think of it like a very careful robot helper that watches the market 24 hours a day and follows a strict set of safety rules so it never risks more than it's allowed to.

You don't need to know how to trade. Sultrix does the watching, deciding, and trading. Your job is just to install it, log in, and press Start.

TIP: Sultrix comes with a 30-day free trial. You do not need to pay anything or enter a card to try it.

Step-by-Step Setup

1

Download Sultrix

Go to sultrixtrade.com and click the Download button.

A small window will pop up and ask: "Buy Now or Start Free Trial?"

Click Start Free Trial — this gives you full access for 30 days, for free.

(If you already know you want to buy, you can click Buy Now instead — either way works.)

A file called Sultrix-Setup.exe will download to your computer. This guide (the one you're reading!) downloads automatically with it.

2

Install Sultrix

Find the downloaded file (usually in your Downloads folder) and double-click it.

Windows might show a blue box asking if you're sure — click Yes or Run Anyway.

Click Next → Next → Install → Finish. That's it — you don't need to change any settings.

IMPORTANT: Windows showing a warning popup is completely normal for new programs. It does not mean anything is wrong.

3

Open Sultrix for the First Time

Double-click the Sultrix icon on your Desktop (or find it in your Start Menu).

You will see a login screen. This is asking for the email and password you used when you registered on sultrixtrade.com.

If you haven't registered yet, click Register first and create your account — it only takes a minute.

4

The Verification Code (this keeps your account safe)

After you type your password, Sultrix will ask for a 6-digit code.

This code gets sent to your email, or comes from an authenticator app if you set one up — it's like a second lock on your front door, just to make sure it's really you.

Type the 6 numbers into the box and you're in. The code only works once and expires after 10 minutes, so use it quickly.

5

Welcome to Your Dashboard

After logging in, you'll see your Dashboard — this is Sultrix's home screen. Here's what each part means, in plain words:

Overview	A quick summary: how much money you've made, and what's happening right now.
Agents	The list of "helper robots" working for you (each one has a different job, like watching risk or finding good trades).
Risk	Shows how carefully Sultrix is protecting your money. Green means everything is safe.
Settings	Where you can adjust how Sultrix behaves, if you ever want to.
Alerts	Important messages get sent here, and also to your email and Telegram, if you've connected them.

6

Starting Your Bot

Look for the big Start button on your dashboard.

Click it once. Sultrix will begin watching the market and trading automatically, following its built-in safety rules.

If you ever want it to stop — for any reason — just click Stop. Everything pauses safely, right away.

TIP: You can close the Sultrix window and your bot keeps running in the background. You don't have to sit and watch it.

7

Understanding Your Free Trial

Your trial lasts 30 days from the day you started it, and it's completely free.

You'll see a small banner on your dashboard counting down how many days are left.

When your trial is close to ending, Sultrix will gently remind you. If you decide to keep using it, you can buy a license for $5 (Basic) or $9 (Pro) — a one-time payment, not a subscription.

If you don't buy a license, Sultrix simply pauses after the trial ends. Nothing bad happens to your account or your money.
